KANG YUAN
Kang began his PhD research in Linköping (Sweden) from October 2010 after achieving his Bachelor’s degree in Beijing Institute of Technology in Beijing (China). His research is mainly on material science and high-temperature coatings used for gas turbines. In his own opinion, he is a good man to others and to this world. He is also a big fans of the SPURS (San Antonio) in NBA.